“This is a thorough and comprehensive look at the subject of business ethics, which not only deals with the basic theories in an understandable way, but illustrates them with a wide selection of case studies, to make the theories relevant for today’s students.”

- Nick Phillips, School of Business and Enterprise, University of Cumbria, UK

“Domène Melé has succeeded in writing a book that is thought provoking, especially in times of corporate scandals and criticism of the economic system. His argument for a human-centred approach highlights the crucial role of people and their values, virtues and principles. The book combines a comprehensive review of theories on business ethics with illustrative cases, making it a valuable source for both educational settings and practice.”

- Andre Nijhof, Associate professor in Business Ethics, Nyenrode Business University, The Netherlands

It is argued that, without neglecting efficiency or profits, human well-being should be the first priority of every business. Business Ethics in Action defends the need to orient business to people. Through case studies and pedagogy, this book aids students to apply the foundations and principles of business ethics to real world situations.
