Biography

Ana Maiques Valls was born in Valencia. She obtained 2 Bachelors in Economy from University of Barcelona and University of Wolverhampton and a Master in European Economy from University of North London.

In 2000 she was one of the founders of Starlab, a leading research and innovation company based in Barcelona, focused on the space and neuroscience industries.

In 2010 she was nominated by IESE as one of the most influential entrepreneurship under 40 in Spain (the only women in the list).

Ana is now leading a new business adventure, Neuroelectrics and keeps working to expand her businesses globally and hopes her experience will be useful as a benchmark for other young entrepreneurs.

Recently, Ana has also been awarded with the EU Prize for Women Innovators by the European Commission for the achievement of outstanding innovations.