

Education loans simplified: Focus on the next chapter of your career rather than deal with the banks

In 2013, when I started my MBA at IESE, I saw several friends, with great professional profiles, struggle to arrange their funding. With my credit strategy background, I decided to attack the problem of access to financing. GyanDhan was born in 2015 to address this very problem.

We are India's 1st education loan marketplace. Our proprietary employability prediction algorithm is used by multiple lenders to evaluate education loan applications. Working with all leading lenders in India, we provide economically optimal education loans to Indian students targeting higher education abroad.

It will be a pleasure to help prospective students realize their dream of attending my alma mater.
